SANDWELL

Just a thought for you.....This is an opportunity to shine in ways you never considered. These are unprecedented and uncertain times, but what you CAN take control of now is WHO you are in this situation and what kind of person you are in a crisis.

Employers, colleges, universities are all interested in YOU, THE WHOLE PERSON. Think about what you are doing, how you are coping, how you are helping others, and what you are learning.

These could be the things that help you get that college or university place, or dream apprenticeship or job in the future.

Now is the time for us all to develop our character strengths!
